The University of Texas at San Antonio

The Department of Communication at the University of Texas at San Antonio invites applicants for one tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2016. We seek individuals with a Ph.D. in Communication or a related field interested in assisting us in our continued progress toward national prominence. The Department has a Master’s degree program and one of the largest undergraduate programs at the UTSA, with foci in organizational, interpersonal, intercultural, international, health, digital communication, and public relations. For more information on the Department, visit http://communication.utsa.edu/.

Position: Assistant Professor specializing in Organizational Communication. Required qualifications: a strong background in organizational communication, communication theory and research methods. Preferred qualifications: experience teaching courses in organizational communication, health communication, new media, or other areas of department emphasis. Applicants with experience directing Master’s theses or serving on thesis committees, applicants with experience teaching online courses, and applicants who can assist the department in contributing to UTSA’s “human factors cybersecurity” focus may receive additional consideration. Tenure is contingent upon UT System Board of Regents approval.

Additional requirements: evidence of scholarly research and publication. If an ABD candidate does not complete the Ph.D. or other required terminal degree by September 1, 2016, he/she may be appointed as an Instructor.

Responsibilities include: 1) teaching courses in organizational communication, communication theory, and research methods at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; 2) developing curricula, teaching, and supervising theses or serving on thesis committees at the graduate level; and 3) maintaining an active research agenda. The regular teaching load is 2 courses per semester.

Screening of completed applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants must submit by email 1) a letter of application that specifies the applicant’s desired position and rank; 2) a vita including a list of relevant courses taught; 3) names, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of three references; 4) evidence of teaching excellence (e.g., teaching evaluations, syllabi, sample of class materials); and 5) one representative publication to:
