The Department of Philosophy and Classics at The University of Texas at San Antonio invites applications for a tenure-track, position to begin Fall 2012. Rank: Open AOS: Analytic Epistemology AOC: Open Responsibilities for Assistant professor include developing a research program and teaching courses at the undergraduate levels and committee service to the department, college and university. Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Philosophy by August 15, 2012. Preferred qualifications include a research program that exhibits strong potential for outstanding scholarship, and teaching competence in one or more of the following: practical ethics, philosophy of law, or medieval philosophy. Responsibilities for Associate and Full professor include maintaining a research program of national distinction, service to the department, college and university, and teaching courses at the undergraduate level. Required qualifications are a Ph.D. in philosophy, demonstrated excellence in teaching at the undergraduate level, a record of outstanding scholarship, and an active research program that is nationally recognized. Candidates will also have demonstrated leadership in service to their department, college and university. Preferred qualifications include teaching and research competence in one or more of the following: practical ethics, philosophy of law, or medieval philosophy. Appointment at the rank of associate or full professor may be offered with or without tenure. Applications must include a cover letter and a CV listing 3 references. The application review process begins on December 1, 2011, and will continue until position is filled. UTSA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants who are selected for interviews must be able to show proof that they will be eligible to work in the United States by time of hire. Send materials to: Philosophy Search Committee, Department of Philosophy and Classics, University of Texas at San Antonio, One UTSA Circle, San Antonio, TX 78249-1644. Electronic applications will not be accepted.