"Our Hip Hop Feminist Literacies Matter: Reading the World with Black Girls"

Presented by Dr. Elaine Ricardson

She is currently a Professor of Literacy Studies at The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, where she teaches in the Department of Teaching and Learning. Her research interests include the liberation and critical literacy education of people of the Black African Diaspora. She is the Director of The Ohio State University Hip Hop Literacies Conference, as well as the nascent non-profit Education Foundation for Freedom, focusing on educational empowerment of women and girls. Richardson, aka Dr. E is also a recording artist and performer, using her performance to reach souls on a deeper level. She is also the author of "PHD to Ph.D.: How Education Saved My Life".
