

Judge Nelson Wolff Internship Opportunities

The Bexar County Judge Nelson Wolff reelection campaign is looking for motivated interns to join our team. Interns in the campaign office will be responsible for assisting with phone banking; recording data; answering incoming telephone calls; and handling special projects as needed. Our interns will also have the opportunity to attend political events with the staff and meet Democratic candidates in our community. The atmosphere of the campaign office is fun and fast-paced, while remaining a highly demanding and professional environment.

While our internships are unpaid, we work closely with students to ensure that their experience on the campaign trail supports their academic and professional goals. The internships will provide valuable insights to campaign life and Bexar County's political system. Internships may be considered for college credit if verified with your college or university.

Interested students should send a resume and short cover letter to maryellen@judgenelsonwolff.com and indicate "Internship application" in the subject line. Internships will begin after the start of the semester in our new campaign headquarters.
