

Different Subtypes Of Geography, And Sample Jobs Available In Each

I. Economic-Urban Geography

Public sector: City Planner
Housing or Community Development Specialist
Land Use Planner
Policy Planner
Transportation Planner
Facilities Planner

Private Sector: Real Estate Research Analyst
Industrial Development Specialist
Land Developer
Market Researcher
Sales Research Consultant
Location Research Analyst
Foreign Investment Specialist

II. Regional Science, Area Studies, and Political Geography

Economic Development Analyst
Intelligence Specialist
Foreign Area Analyst
Geographic Attaché
Diplomat
Research Coordinator
Regional Transportation Planner
Regional International Specialist
Geopolitical Data Base Assistant
Regional Development Consultant
Technology Assessment Analyst

III. Physical Geography

Land Surveyor
Cartographer
Climatologist
Meteorologist
Hydrologist
Oceanographer

IV. GIS and Remote Sensing

GIS Analyst/ Programmer/ Manager
GIS Software Developer
Multispectral Imagery Analyst
GIS Web Mapping Specialist
GIS Data Management Specialist
Hydrographic Surveyor
ArcGIS Consultant
GIS-Cartographer
GIS Transportation Specialist
Aerial Photo Interpreter

V. Resource Geography

Park/ Wildlife Manager
Park Naturalist
Conservationist
Resource Planner
Environmental Impact Analyst
Natural Hazards Specialist
Emergency Management Analyst
Energy Policy Specialist
Biogeographer
Resource Information Systems Analyst
Forestry Technician
Pollution Monitor

VI. Medical Geography

Epidemiologist
Landscape Epidemiologist
Biometerologist
Health Care Facility Location Planner
Health Data Specialist

VII. Geographic Education

Teacher (all levels)
Map Librarian

VIII. Historical Geography

Historic Preservation Planner
Archivist

IX. Population Geography

Geo-demographer
Refugee Placement Specialist
Migration Researcher

X. Behavioral Geography

Geographic specialist in anthro-pological, psychological, sociological research projects